NEW QUESTION: 1You create an Azure Databricks cluster and specify an additional library to install. When you attempt to load the library to a notebook, the library is not found. You need to identify the cause of the issue. What should you review?A. cluster event logsB. global init scripts logsC. workspace logsD. notebook logsAnswer: B*Explanation:Cluster-scoped Init Scripts: Init scripts are shell scripts that run during the startup of each cluster node before the Spark driver or worker JVM starts. Databricks customers use init scripts for various purposes such as installing custom libraries, launching background processes, or applying enterprise security policies. Logs for Cluster-scoped init scripts are now more consistent with Cluster Log Delivery and can be found in the same root folder as driver and executor logs for the cluster. NEW QUESTION: 2A router running EIGRP has learned the same route from two different paths. Which parameter does the router use to select the best path?A. administrative distanceB. as-pathC. metricD. costAnswer: C*Explanation:If a router learns two different paths for the same network from the same routing protocol, it has to decide which route is better and will be placed in the routing table. Metric is the measure used to decide which route is better (lower number is better). Each routing protocol uses its own metric. For example, RIP uses hop counts as a metric, while OSPF uses cost. <https://study-ccna.com/administrative-distance-metric/>

NEW QUESTION: 3Which type of EIGRP route entry describes a feasible successor?A. a primary route, stored in the routing tableB. a backup route, stored in the routing tableC. a primary route, stored in the topology tableD. a backup route, stored in the topology tableAnswer: D*Explanation:Feasible SuccessorsA destination entry is moved from the topology table to the routing table when there is a feasible successor. All minimum cost paths to the destination form a set. From this set, the neighbors that have an advertised metric less than the current routing table metric are considered feasible successors. Feasible successors are viewed by a router as neighbors that are downstream with respect to the destination. These neighbors and the associated metrics are placed in the forwarding table. When a neighbor changes the metric it has been advertising or a topology change occurs in the network, the set of feasible successors may have to be re-evaluated. However, this is not categorized as a route recomputation. Feasible successor is a route whose Advertised Distance (AD) is less than the Feasible Distance (FD) of the current best path. A feasible successor is a backup route, which is not stored in the routing table but, stored in the topology table. Reference:
