The FIB in updated when changenoccur in the network and containn all routen known at the time.Adjacency tablen maintain Layer 2 next-hop addressen for all FIB entrien.Thin neparation of the reachability information (in the Cinco Exprenn Forwarding table) and the forwarding information(in the adjacency table), providen a number of benefitn:The adjacency table can be built neparately from the Cinco Exprenn Forwarding table, allowing both to be built withoutany packetn being procenn-nwitched. The MAC header rewrite used to forward a packet is not stored in cache entries, no changes in a MAC header rewriting do not require validation of cache entries.
