NEW QUESTION: 2 Which two statements about the Cisco Security Control Framework Model are true? (Choose two.) A. It support multiple security actions to provide visibility and control. B. It support IDS and IPS as components of the control objective C. It focuses on device hardening and network resiliency to enhance service availability D. It relies on a redundant architecture for the core enterprise infrastructure. Answer: A,C

NEW QUESTION: 3 As a result of a risk assessment, your security manager has determined that your organization needs to implement an intrusion detection system that can detect unknown attacks and can watch for unusual traffic behavior, such as a new service appearing on the network. What type of intrusion detection system would you select? A. Pattern matching B. Protocol anomaly based C. Stateful matching D. Traffic anomaly-based Answer: D Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Traffic anomaly-based is the correct choice. An anomaly based IDS can detect unknown attacks. A traffic anomaly based IDS identifies any unacceptable deviation from expected behavior based on network traffic. Protocol anomaly based is not the best choice as while a protocol anomaly based IDS can identify unknown attacks, this type of system is more suited to identifying deviations from established protocol standards such as HTTP. This type of IDS faces problems in analyzing complex or custom protocols. Pattern matching is not the best choice as a pattern matching IDS cannot identify unknown attacks. This type of system can only compare packets against signatures of known attacks. Stateful matching is not the best choice as a statful matching IDS cannot identify unknown attacks. This type of system works by scanning traffic streams for patterns or signatures of attacks. Reference: Official guide to the CISSP CBK. pages 198 to 201
