NEW QUESTION: 1Your network contains an Active Directory domain. The domain contains 100 Windows 10 client computers. All of the computers secure all connections to computers on the internal network by using IPsec. The network contains a server that runs a legacy application. The server does NOT support IPsec. You need to ensure that some of the Windows 8 computers can connect to the legacy server. The solution must ensure that all other connections are secured by using IPsec. What should you do?
A. Modify the settings of the Domain Profile.
B. Create a connection security rule.
C. Create an inbound firewall rule.
D. Modify the settings of the Private Profile.
Answer: A
Explanation: A firewall profile is a way of grouping settings, such as firewall rules and connection security rules, which are applied to the computer depending on where the computer is connected. On computers running this version of Windows, there are three profiles for Windows Firewall with Advanced Security: Domain, Private, and Public. The Domain profile is applied to a network adapter when it is connected to a network on which it can detect a domain controller of the domain to which the computer is joined.
