NEW QUESTION: 1You are developing an application that will convert data into multiple output formats.The application includes the following code. (Line numbers are included for reference only.)You are developing a code segment that will produce tab-delimited output. All output routines implement the following interface:You need to minimize the completion time of the GetOutput() method.Which code segment should you insert at line 06?A. Option CB. Option BC. Option AD. Option D*Answer: B*Explanation:A String object concatenation operation always creates a new object from the existing string and the new data.A StringBuilder object maintains a buffer to accommodate the concatenation of new data. New data is appended to the buffer if room is available; otherwise, a new, larger buffer is allocated, data from the original buffer is copied to the new buffer, and the new data is then appended to the new buffer.The performance of a concatenation operation for a String or StringBuilder object depends on the frequency of memory allocations. A String concatenation operation always allocates memory, whereas a StringBuilder concatenation operation allocates memory only if the StringBuilder object buffer is too small to accommodate the new data. Use the String class if you are concatenating a fixed number of String objects. In that case, the compiler may even combine individual concatenation operations into a single operation. Use a StringBuilder object if you are concatenating an arbitrary number of strings; for example, if you're using a loop to concatenate a random number of strings of user input.
