NEW QUESTION: 1A. Content LibraryB. Auto DeployC. Long Distance vMotionD. Replication
Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 2Your network contains the servers configured as shown in the following table. Your company is assigned the public IP addresses from 131.107.0.1 to 131.107.0.31. You need to ensure that Web1 is accessible from the Internet by using https://131.107.0.2. What should you do from the Routing and Remote Access console?A. From the NAT interface, add an address pool and a reservation.B. From the Static Routes node, configure a static route.C. From the server properties, configure SSL Certificate Binding.D. From the NAT interface, configure the Secure Web Server (HTTPS) service.Answer: A
Explanation: Web1 currently doesn't have a public IP assigned to it, so it won't be accessible from the internet by a public IP in our reserved range. This means we need to assign a public IP to it from our pool. In the RRAS console, this is done from the Address Pool Tab (which specifically appears only when NAT is configured as a public interface connected to the internet!). Unfortunately, as per the article below, we must configure at least 1 address pool before creating a reservation. That is why both things need to be done here. Reference:
