Within the section on WRED, the following related features are discussed:-Flow-based WRED. Flow-based WRED extends WRED to provide greater fairness to all flows on an interface in regard to how packets are dropped.-DiffServ Compliant WRED-DiffServ Compliant WRED extends WRED to support Differentiated Services (DiffServ) and Assured

Forwarding (AF) Per Hop Behavior (PHB). This feature enables customers to implement AF PHB by coloring packets according to differentiated services code point (DSCP) values and then assigning preferential drop probabilities to those packets. WRED avoids the globalization problems that occur when tail drop is used as the congestion avoidance mechanism on the router. Global TCP synchronization occurs as waves of congestion crest only to be followed by troughs during which the transmission link is not fully utilized. Global synchronization of TCP hosts, for example, can occur because packets are dropped all at once. Global synchronization manifests when multiple TCP hosts reduce their transmission rates in response to packet dropping, then increase their transmission rates once again when the Reference:
