NEW QUESTION: 1 In a Cisco Unified Communications Manager design where +E.164 destinations are populated in directory entries, which call routing practice is critical to prevent unnecessary toll charges caused by internal calls routed through the PSTN?
A. client matter codes
B. forced authorization codes
C. automated alternate routing
D. forced on-net routing
E. tail-end hop-off
Answer: D
Explanation: It is not uncommon for the dialing habits for on-net/inter-site and off-net destinations to use the same addressing structure. In this case the call control decides whether the addressed endpoint, user, or application is on-net or off-net based on the dialed address, and will treat the call as on-net or off-net, respectively. Figure 14-4 shows an example of this forced on-net routing. All four calls in this example are dialed as 91 plus 10 digits. But while the calls to +1 408 555 2345 and +1 212 555 7000 are really routed as off-net calls through the PSTN gateway, the other two calls are routed as on-net calls because the call control identifies the ultimate destinations as on-net destinations. Forced on-net routing clearly shows that the dialing habit used does not necessarily also determine how a call is routed. In this example, some calls are routed as on-net calls even though the used PSTN dialing habit seems to indicate that an off-net destination is called. Figure 14-4 Forced On-Net Routing Cisco 400-051 Exam Forced on-net routing is especially important if dialing of +E.164 destinations from directories is implemented. In a normalized directory, all destinations are defined as +E.164 numbers, regardless of whether the person that the number is associated with is internal or external. In this case forced on-net routing is a mandatory requirement to avoid charges caused by internal calls routed through the PSTN.
