NEW QUESTION: 1The typical computer fraudsters are usually persons with which of the following characteristics?A. They have had previous contact with law enforcementB. They hold a position of trustC. They deviate from the accepted norms of societyD. They conspire with othersAnswer: B*Explanation:The answer: They hold a position of trust. Most computer fraud is caused by insiders or disgruntled employees. These people, as employees, are trusted to perform their duties honestly and not take advantage of the trust placed in them. The following answers are incorrect: They have had previous contact with law enforcement. Is incorrect because most often it is a person that holds a position of trust and this answer implies they have a criminal background. This type of individual is typically not in a position of trust within an organization. They conspire with others. Is incorrect because they typically work alone, often as a form of retribution over a perceived injustice done to them. They deviate from the accepted norms of society. Is incorrect because while the nature of fraudsters deviate from the norm, the fraudsters often hold a position of trust within the organization.

NEW QUESTION: 3A newly-hired Chief Information Security Officer (CISO) is faced with improving security for a company with low morale and numerous disgruntled employees. After reviewing the situation for several weeks the CISO publishes a more comprehensive security policy with associated standards. Which of the following issues could be addressed through the use of technical controls specified in the new security policy?A. Employees posting negative comments about the company from personal phones and PDAs.B. Employees publishing negative information and stories about company management on social network sites and blogs.C. External parties cloning some of the company's externally facing web pages and creating look-alike sites.D. An employee remotely configuring the email server at a relative's company during work hours.Answer: D

NEW QUESTION: 4A. Option DB. Option BC. Option CD. Option AAnswer: B*Explanation:In the event of a planned or unplanned outage of a DB instance, Amazon RDS automatically switches to a standby replica in another Availability Zone if the user has enabled Multi AZ. The automatic failover mechanism simply changes the DNS record of the DB instance to point to the standby DB instance. As a result, the user will need to reestablish any existing connections to the DB instance. However, as the DNS is the same, the application can access DB seamlessly.
