NEW QUESTION: 1The application systems of an organization using open-source software have no single recognized developer producing patches. Which of the following would be the MOST secure way of updating open-source software?
A. identify and test suitable patches before applying them
B. Develop in-house patches
C. Code review and application of available patches
D. Rewrite the patches and apply them
Answer: A
Explanation: Suitable patches from the existing developers should be selected and tested before applying them. Rewriting the patches and applying them is not a correct answer because it would require skilled resources and time to rewrite the patches. Code review could be possible but tests need to be performed before applying the patches. Since the system was developed outside the organization, the IT department may not have the necessary skills and resources to develop patches.

NEW QUESTION: 2 Within the User Provisioning with Mail File Transfer administration user interface, the user clicks on a Control Number to access the details of the users in that batch. After using the status selector function to filter those users who are ready for import, the list of users is presented. Which best describes the combinations of users that can be selected for import?
A. All users in the list must be selected at the same time and all databases are imported together.
B. Only one user can be selected at a time and their associated database must be imported separately.
C. Some or all users visible in the list can be selected and the associated databases imported together.
D. No more than 10 users can be selected at any time and their associated databases are imported together.
Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3 An administrator ran the `balance_load` command on a RecoverPoint cluster during a high-load issue. However, the administrator forgot to capture the output. Where can the RecoverPoint Cluster Load report be located?
