NEW QUESTION: 2 Sara, a security administrator, is noticing a slowdown in the wireless network response. Sara launches a wireless sniffer and sees a large number of ARP packets being sent to the AP. Which of the following type of attacks is underway? A. IV attack B. Packet sniffing C. Interference D. Blue jacking Answer: A Explanation: Section: Threats and Vulnerabilities Explanation/Reference: Explanation: In this question, it's likely that someone is trying to crack the wireless network security. An initialization vector is a random number used in combination with a secret key as a means to encrypt data. This number is sometimes referred to as a nonce, or "number occurring once," as an encryption program uses it only once per session. An initialization vector is used to avoid repetition during the data encryption process, making it impossible for hackers who use dictionary attack to decrypt the exchanged encrypted message by discovering a pattern. This is known as an IV attack. A particular binary sequence may be repeated more than once in a message, and the more it appears, the more the encryption method is discoverable. For example, if a one-letter word exists in a message, it may be either "a" or "l" but it can't be "e" because the word "e" is non-sensical in English, while "a" has a meaning and "l" has a meaning. Repeating the words and letters makes it possible for software to apply a dictionary and discover the binary sequence corresponding to each letter. Using an initialization vector changes the binary sequence corresponding to each letter, enabling the letter "a" to be represented by a particular sequence in the first instance, and then represented by a completely different binary sequence in the second instance. WEP (Wireless Equivalent Privacy) is vulnerable to an IV attack. Because RC4 is a stream cipher, the same traffic key must never be used twice. The purpose of an IV, which is transmitted as plain text, is to prevent any repetition, but a 24-bit IV is not long enough to ensure this on a busy network. The way the IV was used also opened WEP to a related key attack. For a 24-bit IV, there is a 50% probability the same IV will repeat after 5000 packets.

NEW QUESTION: 3 DRAG DROP A company uses System Center 2012 R2 Virtual Machine Manager (VMM) to manage their Hyper-V environment. The VMM environment has two host groups named Dev and Prod. The Hyper-V environment has the following requirements: - Administrators of the Prod host group must be able to manage virtual machines (VMs) and perform all VMM administrative tasks only within the Prod host group. - Administrators of the Dev host group must be able to manage VMs and perform all VMM administrative tasks only within the Dev host group. - Administrators of the Dev host group must be able to provision new

Hyper-V host servers from physical computers for the Dev host group.-The security administrators must be able to add user objects to the Administrator role in VMM.-All delegation must adhere to the principle of least privilege.You need to configure the user role profiles for each host group.Which user role profiles should you assign? To answer, drag the appropriate user role profile to the correct user group.Each user role profile may be used once, more than once, or not at all. You may need to drag the split bar between panes or scroll to view content.Answer: Explanation:Explanation:
