NEW QUESTION: 1You are the project manager of the HHQ Project for your company. You are using the timesheets feature of Microsoft Project Server and Project Web Access so that team members can complete the hours spent on their project work. This information is compiled and is used for project billing to the customer. You have another project, however, that is a fixed fee contract and you would not need to keep track of hours spent on each task in the project. If you wanted team members to report their percentage completion of assignments for project scheduling, what feature would you have the project team use?A. My tasksB. My assignmentsC. My projectsD. My timesheetsAnswer: A*Explanation:The My tasks page allows project team members to send project managers and other roles information about the percentage of their tasks they have completed. Answer option B is incorrect. My timesheets is a page where project team members report the amount of time they have spent on a particular assignment. Answer option D is incorrect. My assignments are a view that shows what work has been assigned to an individual - usually a project team member. Answer option C is incorrect. This is not a valid view for entering time percentage completion information.
