As such, a depositor or a creditor is indifferent between them, since they have the same effect. To solve this question, make any deposit and see how much is in the account after one year. The ratio of the ending FV to the beginning PV will indicate the annual rate earned. On the BAII Plus, press 12 N, 6 divide 12 = I/Y, 100 PV, 0 PMT, CPT FV. On the HP12C, press 12 n, 6 ENTER 12 divide i, 100 PV, 0 PMT, FV. The number displayed will be 106.17. In other words, after one year, $100 has become $106.17. An interest rate of 6.17%, compounded annually, would cause a $100 deposit to become $106.17 in one year. Choosing an initial deposit of $100 helps a great deal in these situations. Make sure the BAII Plus has the value of P/Y set to 1.
