NEW QUESTION: 1The network operation center has two groups of users that use the native desktop. One group, OPERATIONS, requires access to the standard event management tools like acknowledge and delete. They also require access to some custom tools for things like basic troubleshooting (ping and telnet) and ticket creation. The second group, NETWORK, requires access to the same tools used by the OPERATIONS group users. In addition, there are a few tools used for advanced router diagnostics that they use. These tools are not to be available to the OPERATIONS group users. To minimize administration efforts a common desktop menu is used for both groups of users. The users in the OPERATIONS group use Windows desktops to run the native desktop application. What is the technique used to ensure that they only run tools supported on Windows?

Answer: C, D
Explanation: The rules for the selection of disks or array LUNs, for using as mirrored aggregates, are as follows: Disks or array LUNs selected for each plex must be in different pools. The same number of disks or array LUNs must be in both the plexes. Disks are selected first on the basis of equivalent bytes per sector (bps) size, then on the basis of the size of the disk. If there is no equivalent-sized disk, Data ONTAP uses a larger-capacity disk, and limits the size to make it identically sized. Data ONTAP names the plexes of the mirrored aggregate.
