NEW QUESTION: 3Congress considered a tax plan that would reduce capital gains tax rates from the existing levels. The current maximum capital gains rate is 28 percent compared with a maximum rate of 31 percent for ordinary personal income. With this tax bill, which of the following statements is least correct for an investor in a high personal tax bracket?A. The stock of a company that pays high cash dividends and has a dividend reinvestment plan (DRIP) is a good investment for this individual because he/she will receive more money that can then be reinvested in the company's stock.B. A 2-for-1 stock split is announced for a stock that the investor currently holds. The company had split the stock because the stock price had increased beyond the desired price range and is expected to continue to grow. This is good news to the investor because it means that any gains from increased stock value will be taxed at a new lower capital gains rate when the stock is sold.C. None of these statements are correct.D. One of the companies in the investor's portfolio recently announced that it will embark on a stock repurchase plan. The lower capital gains tax rate will reduce the investor's taxes if he/she decides to tender some shares of stock in the company.E. All of these statements are correct.Answer: AExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:In a dividend reinvestment plan, the stockholder must pay taxes on the dividend amount, even though stock and not cash has been received.

NEW QUESTION: 4HOTSPOTAnswer: Explanation:Explanation:Schema -Contains the Schema container, which stores class and attribute definitions for all existing and possible Active Directory objects in cn=schema,cn=configuration,dc= forestRootDomain. Updates to this container are replicated to all domain controllers in the forest. You can view the contents of the Schema container in the Active Directory Schema console. An Active Directory Lightweight Directory Services (AD LDS) schema defines, using object classes and attributes, the types of objects and data that can be created and stored in an AD LDS directory. The schema can be extended with new classes and attributes, either by administrators or by the applications themselves. In addition, unneeded schema classes and attributes can be deactivated.
