NEW QUESTION: 1A. CIFS. DAFSC. NFS. FCPE. DFSAnswer: A,C,DExplanation:Data OnTap can simultaneously serve NAS and SAN protocols. CIFS, NFS, and FC protocol are examples of NAS and SAN protocols respectively.Data OnTap 7.1 or later does not support DAFS. DFS provides location transparency and redundancy by allowing shares in multiple different locations to be logically grouped under one folder, or DFS root. While practically a CIFS server shared by a Data OnTap filer can be a DFS target, DFS namespaces can only be hosted on Windows systems.

NEW QUESTION: 2If an Ethernet port on a router was assigned an IP address of 172.16.112.1/20, what is the maximum number of hosts allowed on this subnet?A. 0B. 1C. 2D. 3E. 4*Answer: AExplanation:Each octet represents eight bits. The bits, in turn, represent (from left to right): 128, 64, 32, 16, 8, 4, 2, 1Add them up and you get 255. Add one for the all zeros option, and the total is 256. Now take away one of these for the network address (all zeros) and another for the broadcast address (all ones). Each octet represents 254 possible hosts. Or 254 possible networks. Unless you have subnet zero set on your network gear, in which case you could conceivably have 255.The CIDR addressing format (/20) tells us that 20 bits are used for the network portion, so the maximum number of networks are 2

Related Posts20 minus one if you have subnet zero enabled, or minus 2 if not.You asked about the number of hosts. That will be 32 minus the number of network bits, minus two. So calculate it as (2
