NEW QUESTION: 4One of the remote branch offices is running a Windows Server 2008 read only domain controller (RODC). For security reasons you don't want some critical credentials like (passwords, encryption keys) to be stored on RODC.What should you do so that these credentials are not replicated to any RODC's in the forest? (Select 2)A. Delegate local administrative permissions for an RODC to any domain user without granting that user any user rights for the domainB. Configure RODC filtered attribute set on the serverC. Configure forest functional level server for Windows server 2008 to configure filtered attribute set.D. Configure RODC filtered set on the server that holds Schema Operations Master role.E. None of the aboveAnswer: C,DExplanation:<http://technet.microsoft.com/en-us/library/cc753223.aspx> Adding attributes to the RODC filtered attribute set The RODC filtered attribute set is a dynamic set of attributes that is not replicated to any RODCs in the forest. You can configure the RODC filtered attribute set on a schema master that runs Windows Server 2008. When the attributes are prevented from replicating to RODCs, that data cannot be exposed unnecessarily if an RODC is stolen or compromised. A malicious user who compromises an RODC can attempt to configure it in such a way that it tries to replicate attributes that are defined in the RODC filtered attribute set. If the RODC tries to replicate those attributes from a domain controller that is running

Windows Server 2008, the replication request is denied. However, if the RODC tries to replicate those attributes from a domain controller that is running Windows Server 2003, the replication request could succeed. Therefore, as a security precaution, ensure that forest functional level is Windows Server 2008 if you plan to configure the RODC filtered attribute set. When the forest functional level is Windows Server 2008, an RODC that is compromised cannot be exploited in this manner because domain controllers that are running Windows Server 2003 are not allowed in the forest.
