Next you wish to compile your new kernel and modules and copy the modules to their proper location.What would you type to do this?A. make mrproper modules modules_installB. make modules modules_installC. make dep clean modules modules_installD. make dep clean bzImage modules modules_installE. make bzImage modules modules_installAnswer: D Explanation: This command consists of multiple make commands on the same line: The first part of the command, make dep, actually takes your configuration and builds the corresponding dependency tree. This process determines what gets compiled and what doesn't. The next step, make clean, erases all previous traces of a compilation so as to avoid any mistakes in which version of a feature gets tied into the kernel. The next step, make bzImage does the full compilation of the kernel. The next two steps, make modules and make modules_install will compile the modules and copy them to their appropriate location.

C: Make mrproper is similar to make clean except that it doesn't delete any binaries. However, there is no kernel image specified in this command. D: There is no kernel image specified in this command.
