NEW QUESTION: 1 Which three methods does WebLogic provide to implement persistent JMS messaging?
A. Create a JDBC store and assign it to a JMS server.
B. Configure a file store within a JMS module.
C. Use the target server's default store.
D. Create a file store and assign it to a JMS server.
E. Configure the domain's default store.
Answer: A,C,D
Explanation:
A: The main steps for creating a custom file store are as follows:
1. Create a directory where the file store's data will be persisted.
2. Create a custom file store and specify the directory location that you created.
3. Associate the custom file store with the subsystem(s) or migratable target that will be accessing it, such as:
* For Store-and-Forward agents, select the custom file store on the General Configuration page.
* For a Path Service, select the custom file store on the General Configuration page.
B: The main steps for creating a JDBC store are as follows:
Create a JDBC data source or multi data source to interface with the JDBC store.
Create a JDBC store and associate it with the JDBC data source or multi data source. It is highly recommended that you configure the Prefix option to a unique value for each configured JDBC store table.
Associate the JDBC store with the subsystem(s) that will be using it, such as:
For JMS servers, select the JDBC store on the General Configuration page.
For Store-and-Forward agents, select the JDBC store on the General Configuration page.
For a Path Service, select the custom file store on the General Configuration page.
E: Each server instance, including the administration server, has a default persistent store that requires no configuration.
Note: When a persistent message is sent, it is stored in the WebLogic Persistent Store. The persistent store provides a built-in, high-performance storage solution for WebLogic Server subsystems and services that require persistence. For example, it can store persistent JMS messages or temporarily store messages sent using the Store-and-Forward feature. The persistent store supports persistence to a file-based store or to a JDBC-enabled database.
Note 2: A persistent message is guaranteed to be delivered once-and-only-once. The message cannot be lost due to a JMS provider failure and it must not be delivered twice. It is not considered sent until it has been safely written to a file or database. WebLogic JMS writes persistent messages to a WebLogic persistent store (disk-based file or JDBC-accessible database) that is optionally targeted by each JMS server during configuration.
