NEW QUESTION: 1Which statements describe the routing protocol OSPF? (Choose three.)A. It confines network instability to one area of the network.B. It is simpler to configure than RIP v2.C. It allows extensive control of routing updates.D. It supports VLSM.E. It increases routing overhead on the network.F. It is used to route between autonomous systems.Answer: A,C,D
Explanation:Routing overhead is the amount of information needed to describe the changes in a dynamic network topology. All routers in an OSPF area have identical copies of the topology database and the topology database of one area is hidden from the rest of the areas to reduce routing overhead because fewer routing updates are sent and smaller routing trees are computed and maintained (allow extensive control of routing updates and confine network instability to one area of the network).
