NEW QUESTION: 1What kind of encryption is realized in the S/MIME-standard?A. Password based encryption schemeB. Public key based, hybrid encryption schemeC. Asymmetric encryption schemeD. Elliptic curve based encryptionAnswer: B*Explanation:S/MIME (for Secure MIME, or Secure Multipurpose Mail Extension) is a security process used for e-mail exchanges that makes it possible to guarantee the confidentiality and non-repudiation of electronic messages.S/MIME is based on the MIME standard, the goal of which is to let users attach files other thanASCII text files to electronic messages. The MIME standard therefore makes it possible to attachall types of files to e-mails.S/MIME was originally developed by the company RSA Data Security. Ratified in July 1999 by theIETF, S/MIME has become a standard, whose specifications are contained in RFCs 2630 to 2633.How S/MIME worksThe S/MIME standard is based on the principle of public-key encryption. S/MIME therefore makesit possible to encrypt the content of messages but does not encrypt the communication.The various sections of an electronic message, encoded according to the MIME standard, areeach encrypted using a session key.The session key is inserted in each section's header, and is encrypted using the recipient's publickey. Only the recipient can open the message's body, using his private key, which guarantees theconfidentiality and integrity of the received message.In addition, the message's signature is encrypted with the sender's private key. Anyoneintercepting the communication can read the content of the message's signature, but this ensures the recipient of the sender's identity, since only the sender is capable of encrypting a message(with his private key) that can be decrypted with his public key.Reference(s) used for this question: <http://en.kioskea.net/contents/139-cryptography-s-mime>RFC 2630: Cryptographic Message Syntax;OPPLIGER, Rolf, Secure Messaging with PGP and S/MIME, 2000, Artech House;HARRIS, Shon, All-In-One CISSP Certification Exam Guide, 2001, McGraw-Hill/Osborne, page570;SMITH, Richard E., Internet Cryptography, 1997, Addison-Wesley Pub Co.

NEW QUESTION: 2An administrator is replacing a wireless router. The configuration of the old wireless router was not documented before it stopped functioning. The equipment connecting to the wireless network uses older legacy equipment that was manufactured prior to the release of the 802.11i standard. Which of the following configuration options should the administrator select for the new wireless router?A. WPA2+TWPB. WPA+TWPC. WPA2+CCMP

Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 3Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. All servers run Windows Server 2012 R2. The domain contains two servers. The servers are configured as shown in the following table. All client computers run Windows 8.1 Enterprise. You plan to deploy Network Access Protection (NAP) by using IPsec enforcement. A Group Policy object (GPO) named GPO1 is configured to deploy a trusted server group to all of the client computers. You need to ensure that the client computers can discover HRA servers automatically. Which three actions should you perform? (Each correct answer presents part of the solution. Choose three.)A. In a GPO, modify the Request Policy setting for the NAP Client Configuration. B. On Server2, configure the EnableDiscovery registry key. C. On DC1, create a service location (SRV) record. D. On all of the client computers, configure the EnableDiscovery registry key. E. On DC1, create an alias (CNAME) record.*Answer: A,C,D Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Requirements for HRA automatic discovery The following requirements must be met in order to configure trusted server groups on NAP client computers using HRA automatic discovery: Client computers must be running Windows Vista® with Service Pack 1 (SP1) or Windows XP with Service Pack 3 (SP3). The HRA server must be configured with a Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) certificate. The EnableDiscovery registry key must be configured on NAP client computers. DNS SRV records must be configured. The trusted server group configuration in either local policy or Group Policy must be cleared.
