NEW QUESTION: 3 The MOST appropriate individual to determine the level of information security needed for a specific business application is the:
A. system data owner
B. information security manager
C. steering committee
D. system developer
Answer: A
Explanation: Data

owners are the most knowledgeable of the security needs of the business application for which they are responsible. The system developer, security manager and system custodian will have specific knowledge on limited areas but will not have full knowledge of the business issues that affect the level of security required. The steering committee does not perform at that level of detail on the operation.
