NEW QUESTION: 2Using covered interest parity, calculate the 3 month CAD/USD forward rate if the spot CAD/USD rate is 1.1239 and the three month interest rates on CAD and USD are 0.75% and 0.4% annually respectively.A. 1.1229B. 1.1200C. 1.1278D. 1.1249Answer: D*Explanation: ExplanationForward rates can be calculated from spot rates and interest rates using the formula $\text{Spot} \times (1 + \text{domestic interest rate}) / (1 + \text{foreign interest rate})$, where the 'Spot' is expressed as a direct rate (ie as the number of domestic currency units one unit of the foreign currency can buy). In this case the forward rate will be $1.1239 \times (1 + 0.75\% \times 90/360) / (1 + 0.4\% \times 90/360) = 1.1249$. It can be confusing to determine which interest rate should be considered 'domestic', and which 'foreign' for this formula. For that, look at the spot rate. Think of the spot rate as being x units of one currency equal to 1 unit of the other currency. In this case, think of the spot rate 1.1239 as "CAD 1.1239 = USD 1". The currency that has the "1" in it is the 'foreign' and the other one is 'domestic'. It is also important to remember how exchange rates are generally quoted. Most exchange rates are quoted in terms of how many foreign currencies does USD 1 buy. Therefore, a rate of 99 for the JPY means that USD 1 is equal to JPY 99. These are called 'direct rates'. However, there are four major world currencies where the rate quote convention is the other way round - these are EUR, GBP, AUD and NZD. For these currencies, the FX quote implies how many US dollars can one unit of these currencies buy. So a quote of "1.1023" for the Euro means EUR 1 is equal to USD 1.1023 and not the other way round.

NEW QUESTION: 3Note: This question is part of a series of questions that use the same scenario. For your convenience, the scenario is repeated in each question. Each question presents a different goal and answer choices, but the text of the scenario is exactly the same in each question in this series. You have a database named DB1 that contains the following tables: Customer, CustomerToAccountBridge, and CustomerDetails. The three tables are part of the Sales schema. The database also contains a schema named Website. You create the Customer table by running the following Transact-SQL statement: The value of the CustomerStatus column is equal to one for active customers. The value of the Account1Status and Account2Status columns are equal to one for active accounts. The following table displays selected columns and rows from the Customer table. You plan to create a view named Website.Customer and a view named Sales.FemaleCustomers.Website.Customer must meet the following requirements: * Allow users access to the CustomerName and CustomerNumber columns for active customers. * Allow changes to the columns that the view references. Modified data must be visible through the view. * Prevent the view from being published as part of Microsoft SQL Server replication. Sales.FemaleCustomers must meet the following requirements: * Allow users access to the CustomerName, Address, City, State and PostalCode columns. * Prevent changes to the columns that the view references. * Only allow updates through the views that adhere to the view filter. You have the following stored procedures: spDeleteCustAcctRelationship and spUpdateCustomerSummary. The spUpdateCustomerSummary stored procedure was created by running the following Transact-SQL statement: You run the spUpdateCustomerSummary stored procedure to make changes to customer account summaries. Other stored procedures call the spDeleteCustAcctRelationship to delete records from the CustomerToAccountBridge table. You must update the design of the Customer table to meet the following requirements. * You must be able to store up to 50 accounts for each customer. * Users must be able to retrieve customer information by supplying an account number. * Users must be able to retrieve an account number by supplying customer information. Which three Transact-SQL segments should you use to develop the solution? To answer, move the appropriate code blocks from the list of code blocks to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order. Answer: Explanation: ExplanationBox 1: Clustered Index With the same size of keys, the nonclustered indexes need more space than clustered indexes. Box 2, Box 3: Include the CustomerStatus column in the index, and only when CustomerStatus not equal to 1 (the active customers).
