Global City IT Services and other providers, and these relationships are managed by a DriveYou.com supplier manager. Some of the issues that DriveYou.com needs to address include: Better structure and accountability around their work practices Compliance with safety and other regulatory requirements. University of Bachstein (UoB) The UoB is a university that is based Germany, with a satellite campus in Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. In the past, some IT services were funded and run centrally, and some were funded and run independently by each faculty. Centrally owned services include a 'walk-in' service desk, plus a separate service desk in the main library, run by library staff. Library services and IT are both part of the university's administrative services division. Recently, under a new CIO, there has been a drive to centralize and consolidate IT as a corporate function, although this has not been fully achieved. The central IT department runs a variety of legacy systems, which serve students, administrators, researchers and academics. The NSDoT's internal IT team writes and manages most of their agency-specific applications, however most other applications and infrastructure are provided by the Nevagon State central IT department. The IT department at the UoB does not have a service catalogue or a service portfolio, and there is limited understanding of the structure and value of services in the organization. Many of the individual departments and faculties are resistant to the CIO's vision for global services. They have decided to appoint business relationship managers (BRMs) who will be expected to address many of the challenges, in order to support collaboration and help to define global services. Some business analysts are going to be transferred to these new positions. Which is the BEST way for a new BRM at the UoB to understand their customers' needs? A. Run a workshop to define the structure and value of IT services. B. Visit each customer in their normal place of work to see what they do. C. Issue a detailed questionnaire to all customers to discover their expectations. D. Establish current performance levels and match the new service to them. Answer: D
