NEW QUESTION: 2Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains a member server named HVServer1. HVServer1 runs Windows Server 2012 R2 and has the Hyper-V server role installed. HVServer1 hosts 10 generation 1 virtual machines. All of the virtual machines connect to a virtual switch named Switch1. Switch1 is configured as a private network. All of the virtual machines have the DHCP guard and the router guard settings enabled.You install the DHCP server role on a virtual machine named Server1. You authorize Server1 as a DHCP server in contoso.com. You create an IP scope. You discover that the virtual machines connected to Switch1 do not receive IP settings from Server1.You need to ensure that the virtual machines can use Server1 as a DHCP server.What should you do?A. Enable single-root I/O visualization (SR-IOV) on Server1.B. Enable MAC address spoofing on Server1.C. Disable the DHCP guard on Server1.D. Disable the DHCP guard on all of the virtual machines that are DHCP clients.Answer: CExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:DHCP guard settingThis setting stops the virtual machine from making DHCP offers over this network interface.To be clear this does not affect the ability to receive a DHCP offer (i.e. if you need to use DHCP to acquire an IP address that will work) it only blocks the ability for the virtual machine to act as a DHCP server.

NEW QUESTION: 3What is a difference between TACACS+ and RADIUS in AAA?A. Only RADIUS encrypts the entire access-request packet.B. Only RADIUS uses TCP.C. Only TACACS+ couples authentication and authorization.D. Only TACACS+ allows for separate authentication.Answer:

DExplanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Authentication and Authorization RADIUS combines authentication and authorization. The access-acceptpackets sent by the RADIUS server to the client contain authorization information. This makes it difficult to decouple authentication and authorization. TACACS+ uses the AAA architecture, which separates AAA. This allows separate authentication solutions that can still use TACACS+ for authorization and accounting. For example, with TACACS+, it is possible to use Kerberos authentication and TACACS+ authorization and accounting. After a NAS authenticates on a Kerberos server, it requests authorization information from a TACACS+ server without having to re-authenticate. The NAS informs the TACACS+ server that it has successfully authenticated on a Kerberos server, and the server then provides authorization information. During a session, if additional authorization checking is needed, the access server checks with a TACACS+ server to determine if the user is granted permission to use a particular command. This provides greater control over the commands that can be executed on the access server while decoupling from the authentication mechanism.
