NEW QUESTION: 1An application developer wants to protect their application against specific malware and repackaging attacks by implementing application authenticity testing via the console. Per the requirements, the developer wishes to implement a check where the Worklight Server will test the authenticity of an application. If the application fails the authenticity check, the Worklight Server will output a message to the log containing relevant information, but the application will still run as expected. Which type of application authenticity should the application developer implement via the console with the above requirements?
A. Enabled, logging
B. Enabled, blocking
C. Enabled, notifying
D. Enabled, servicing
Answer: D
Explanation/Reference:Worklight Console allows enabling or disabling the application authenticity realm in run time. This feature is useful for the Development and QA environments. There are three modes you can set:
* Enabled, blocking - means that the application authenticity check is enabled. If the application fails the check, it is not served by a Worklight server.
* Enabled, serving - means that the application authenticity check is enabled. If the application fails the check, it is still served by a Worklight server.
* Disabled - means that the application authenticity check is disabled.

NEW QUESTION: 3You need to set up access to Azure SQL Database for Tier 7 and Tier 8 partners. Which three actions should you perform in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate three actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order.
Answer: Explanation: Explanation Tier 7 and 8 data access is constrained to single endpoints managed by partners for access
Step 1: Set the Allow Azure Services to Access Server setting to Disabled
Set Allow access to Azure services to OFF for the most secure configuration.
By default, access through the SQL Database firewall is enabled for all Azure services, under Allow access to Azure services. Choose OFF to disable access for all Azure services.
Note: The firewall pane has an ON/OFF button that is labeled Allow access to Azure services. The ON setting allows communications from all Azure IP addresses and all Azure subnets. These Azure

IPs or subnets might not be owned by you. This ON setting is probably more open than you want your SQL Database to be. The virtual network rule feature offers much finer granular control.

Step 2: In the Azure portal, create a server firewall rule

Set up SQL Database server firewall rules

Server-level IP firewall rules apply to all databases within the same SQL Database server.

To set up a server-level firewall rule:

- * In Azure portal, select SQL databases from the left-hand menu, and select your database on the SQL databases page.
- * On the Overview page, select Set server firewall. The Firewall settings page for the database server opens.

Step 3: Connect to the database and use Transact-SQL to create a database firewall rule

Database-level firewall rules can only be configured using Transact-SQL (T-SQL) statements, and only after you've configured a server-level firewall rule.

To setup a database-level firewall rule:

- * Connect to the database, for example using SQL Server Management Studio.
- * In Object Explorer, right-click the database and select New Query.
- * In the query window, add this statement and modify the IP address to your public IP address: * EXECUTE sp_set_database_firewall_rule N'Example DB Rule','0.0.0.4','0.0.0.4';
- * On the toolbar, select Execute to create the firewall rule.
