NEW QUESTION: 1Which QoS mechanism will prevent a decrease in TCP performance?A. Rate-LimitB. PolicerC. Fair-QueueD. WREE. ShaperF. LLQAnswer: D

NEW QUESTION: 2Which three statements about RSTP are true? (Choose three.)A. RSTP expands the STP port roles by adding the alternate and backup roles.B. RSTP provides a faster transition to the forwarding state on point-to-point links than STP does.C. RSTP port states are blocking, discarding, learning, or forwarding.D. RSTP significantly reduces topology reconverging time after a link failure.E. RSTP also uses the STP proposal-agreement sequence.F. RSTP uses the same timer-based process as STP on point-to-point links.Answer: A,B,D
Explanation:One big disadvantage of STP is the low convergence which is very important in switched network. To overcome this problem, in 2001, the IEEE with document 802.1w introduced an evolution of the Spanning Tree Protocol: Rapid Spanning Tree Protocol (RSTP), which significantly reduces the convergence time after a topology change occurs in the network.While STP can take 30 to 50 seconds to transit from a blocking state to a forwarding state,RSTP is typically able to respond less than 10 seconds of a physical link failure.RSTP works by adding an alternative port and a backup port compared to STP. These ports are allowed to immediately enter the forwarding state rather than passively wait for the network to converge.RSTP bridge port roles:
* Root port - A forwarding port that is the closest to the root bridge in terms of path cost
* Designated port - A forwarding port for every LAN segment
* Alternate port - A best alternate path to the root bridge. This path is different than using the root port. The alternative port moves to the forwarding state if there is a failure on the designated port for the segment.
* Backup port - A backup/redundant path to a segment where another bridge port already connects. The backup port applies only when a single switch has two links to the same segment (collision domain). To have two links to the same collision domain, the switch must be attached to a hub.
* Disabled port - Not strictly part of STP, a network administrator can manually disable a port.

NEW QUESTION: 3You plan to create a new column in a disk-based table. The column must meet the following requirements:Be able to store images that are larger than 1 MB each.Be able to access the images from Microsoft .NET Framework applications.Be able to simulate a file system.You need to recommend which data type must be used in the column.Which data type should you recommend?More than one answer choice may achieve the goal. Select the BEST answer.A. imageB. varbinaryC. FileTableD. FileStreamAnswer: D
Explanation/Reference:Explanation:FILESTREAM enables SQL Server-based applications to store unstructured data, such as documents and images, on the file system. Applications can leverage the rich streaming APIs and performance of the file system and at the same time maintain transactional consistency between the unstructured data and corresponding structured data.If the following conditions are true, you should consider using FILESTREAM: Objects that are being stored are, on average, larger than 1 MB.Fast read access is important.

You are developing applications that use a middle tier for application logic. References:

NEW QUESTION: 4 You have placed a red object with 30% opacity on top of a blue object with 80% opacity. You use the Add to Shape Area shape mode in the Pathfinder palette to combine the two objects. What is the resulting object's color and opacity? A. red with 80% opacity B. blue with 80% opacity C. red with 30% opacity D. blue with 30% opacity Answer: C
