NEW QUESTION: 2 An administrator is hardening systems and wants to disable unnecessary services. One Linux server hosts files used by a Windows web server on another machine. The Linux server is only used for secure file transfer, but requires a share for the Windows web server as well. The administrator sees the following output from a netstat -1p command: Which of the following processes can the administrator kill without risking impact to the purpose and function of the Linux or Windows servers? (Select Three) A. 0B. 1C. 2D. 3E. 4F. 5 Answer: B,D,E

NEW QUESTION: 3 In order to comply with Standard IV (B.4), Priority of Transactions, firms should prepare and distribute to firm personnel a code of ethics and compliance procedures. The code and procedures should do all of the following, EXCEPT: A. establish reporting and prior-clearance requirements. B. limit the number of access persons. C. ensure that procedures will be enforced. D. define personal transactions, investment and prohibited transactions. E. consider special situations. F. maintain a list of clients and their holdings. G. contain disciplinary procedures. Answer: F Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: The question deals with the compliance procedures under Standard IV (B.4). Personal transactions must be defined to all employees. The number of access persons - those who have knowledge of pending or actual recommendations or action - should be limited, by implementing Fire Walls. A reporting system for all employees' personal transactions should be established, as well as procedures for special situations. Authority should be given to a compliance officer to enforce the procedures, which should include disciplinary action. Maintaining lists of client holdings is NOT a compliance procedure under Standard IV (B.4), but Standard IV (B.3).
