NEW QUESTION: 2 You work as an administrator at Contoso.com. The Contoso.com network consists of a single domain named Contoso.com. All servers on the Contoso.com network have Windows Server 2012 R2 installed. Contoso.com has a server, named ENSUREPASS-SR13, which is configured as the primary DNS server in the Contoso.com domain. Contoso.com has another server, named ENSUREPASS-SR14, which makes use of ENSUREPASS-SR13 for DNS queries. You want to make sure that running nslookup.exe from ENSUREPASS-SR14 produces a result that shows the proper name of the default server. Which of the following actions should you take?A. You should consider creating a forward lookup zone on ENSUREPASS-SR13.B. You should consider creating a forward lookup zone on ENSUREPASS-SR14.C. You should consider creating a reverse lookup zone on ENSUREPASS-SR13.D. You should consider creating a reverse lookup zone on ENSUREPASS-SR14.
Answer: C
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: When you start Nslookup from a command line, the following error message may be displayed: DNS request timed out timeout was x seconds Can't find server name for address xxx.xxx.xxx.xxx: Timed out Default servers are not available Default Server: UnKnown Address: xxx.xxx.xxx.xxx where xxx.xxx.xxx.xxx is the Internet Protocol (IP) address of the host on which you are attempting to start Nslookup. CAUSE When Nslookup starts, it attempts to resolve the IP address of its host's DNS server to its fully qualified domain name (FQDN). NEW QUESTION: 4 Which of the following steps in database planning is used to record an object so that it is represented visually in the system?A. Identifying the relationships between objectsB. Object modelingC. Object identificationD. Gathering information
Answer: B
Explanation: Object modeling is the third step in database planning in which objects are identified in the system. A user should record an object in such a way that it is represented visually in the system. He can use the database model as a reference during implementation of the database. Database developers use tools such as pencils, paper, word processing etc., as well as create software programs for data modeling of the database. Answer C is incorrect. In the object identification process in database planning, it is necessary to identify the key objects or entities for database management. There are generally a few primary objects, and once these are identified, the related items become visible. Answer B is incorrect. Gathering information is the first step of database planning and requires a good understanding of what tasks are to be performed in the database. In case the database has to replace a paper-based or a manual system, the old system can provide all the necessary information. Moreover, all those who were involved with the previous system should be interviewed to determine what they did and what is now needed for the new database. The limitations, problems, and bottlenecks of the old system should also be identified. Answer A is incorrect. Identifying relationships between objects is the last step in database planning, which is the ability to relate information about various items in the database. Isolated types of information can be stored separately, but the data can be combined according to the requirements of the database engine. Identifying the relationship between objects in the design process necessitates looking at the tables, determining how the tables are logically related, and adding relational columns to the tables that establish a link from one table to another.
