NEW QUESTION: 1 Which two statements are true about STP port states? (Choose two.)A. A port that has been administratively disabled under the STP protocol drops all BPDUs.B. In the learning state, the port drops all data packets.C. In the listening state, the port forwards all data packets.D. A port that has been administratively disabled under the STP protocol floods all BPDUs.Answer: A,B*Explanation:B: A port in the disabled state is manually isolated from the network. A port in the disabledstate does not participate in frame forwarding or the operation of STP because a port in the disabled stateis considered non-operational. C: The learning state is a 15-second interval during which the bridge doesnot pass user data frames while the bridge is building its bridging table. As the bridge receives frames, itplaces the source MAC address and port of each frame into the bridging table. The learning state reducesthe amount of flooding required when data forwarding begins.

In practice, filtering packets whereby TTL value is less than the value that is needed to traverse the longest path across the network will completely mitigate this attack vector. For example, if the width of a network is six routed hops, an enterprise should filter packets that enter the network with TTL values of six and below.
