A. Domain Name to IP addresses.B. MAC addresses to domain names.C. MAC Address to IP addresses.D. IP addresses to MAC Addresses.Answer: A
Explanation: The Domain Name Service is a distributed database system that is used to map domain names to IP addresses and IP addresses to domain names. The Domain Name System is maintained by a distributed database system, which uses the client-server model. The nodes of this database are the name servers. Each domain has at least one authoritative DNS server that publishes information about that domain and the name servers of any domains subordinate to it. The top of the hierarchy is served by the root nameservers, the servers to query when looking up (resolving) a TLD.
