NEW QUESTION: 3 A. Option D. Option C. Option B. Option A Answer: C Explanation: Explanation Amazon RDS Multi-AZ deployments provide enhanced availability and durability for Database (DB) Instances, making them a natural fit for production database workloads. When you provision a Multi-AZ DB Instance, Amazon RDS automatically creates a primary DB Instance and synchronously replicates the data to a standby instance in a different Availability Zone (AZ). Each AZ runs on its own physically distinct, independent infrastructure, and is engineered to be highly reliable. In case of an infrastructure failure (for example, instance hardware failure, storage failure, or network disruption), Amazon RDS performs an automatic failover to the standby, so that you can resume database operations as soon as the failover is complete. And as per the AWS documentation, the cname is changed to the standby DB when the primary one fails. Q: What happens during Multi-AZ failover and how long does it take? "Failover is automatically handled by Amazon RDS so that you can resume database operations as quickly as possible without administrative intervention. When failing over, Amazon RDS simply flips the canonical name record (CNAMC) for your DB instance to point at the standby, which is in turn promoted to become the new primary. We encourage you to follow best practices and implement database connection retry at the application layer". * <https://aws.amazon.com/rds/faqs/> Based on this, RDS Multi-AZ will use DNS to create the CNAM C and hence B is the right option.
