NEW QUESTION: 1A. Option CB. Option AC. Option BD. Option EE. Option DAnswer: D
Explanation:ExplanationThe AWS documentation provide the following information on the best performance for DynamoDB tables The optimal usage of a table's provisioned throughput depends on these factors: The primary key selection.The workload patterns on individual items. The primary key uniquely identifies each item in a table. The primary key can be simple (partition key) or composite (partition key and sort key). When it stores data, DynamoDB divides a table's items into multiple partitions, and distributes the data primarily based upon the partition key value. Consequently, to achieve the full amount of request throughput you have provisioned for a table, keep your workload spread evenly across the partition key values. Distributing requests across partition key values distributes the requests across partitions. For more information on DynamoDB best practises please visit the link:*
<http://docs.aws.amazon.com/amazondynamodb/latest/developerguide/GuideForTables.htm> | Note: One of the AWS forums is explaining the steps for this process in detail. Based on that, while importing data from S3 using datapipeline to a new table in dynamodb we can create a new index.Please find the steps given below.
