NEW QUESTION: 1What is required to achieve gigabit network throughput on EC2? You already selected cluster-compute, 10GB instances with enhanced networking, and your workload is already network-bound, but you are not seeing 10 gigabit speeds.A. Select PIOPS for your drives and mount several, so you can provision sufficient disk throughput.B. Use a placement group for your instances so the instances are physically near each other in the same Availability Zone.C. Enable bplex networking on your servers, so packets are non-blocking in both directions and there's no switching overhead.D. Ensure the instances are in different VPCs so you don't saturate the Internet Gateway on any one VPC.Answer: B
Explanation: Explanation A placement group is a logical grouping of instances within a single Availability Zone. Placement groups are recommended for applications that benefit from low network latency, high network throughput, or both. To provide the lowest latency, and the highest packet-per-second network performance for your placement group, choose an instance type that supports enhanced networking.
