NEW QUESTION: 1 Temperature is a measure of the average kinetic energy (motion) of individual particles in a substance. Thermal energy is the total combined energy of all the particles. When comparing samples of the same substance, the total thermal energy of the sample depends on its temperature and mass. Cheryl fills five containers with different amounts of the same substance as shown in the diagram below. The contents of all five containers are kept at the same 50(degrees) Celsius temperature. To remain buoyant, an object must displace a mass of liquid equal to its own mass. Shown below are five identical corks each placed in small vials, containing equal volumes of liquids that have different salt concentrations. The solution with the highest concentration of salt will have the highest mass and will require the least displacement of liquid. Based on the information and diagram, which vial has the greatest concentration of salt? A. AB. DC. ED. CE. B Answer: C

NEW QUESTION: 3 An organization is migrating its on-premises applications to AWS by using a lift-and-shift approach, taking advantage of managed AWS services wherever possible. The company must be able to edit the application code during the migration phase. One application is a traditional three-tier application, consisting of a web presentation tier, an application tier, and a database tier. The external calling client applications need their sessions to remain sticky to both the web and application nodes that they initially connect to. Which load balancing solution would allow the web and application tiers to scale horizontally independent from one another other? A. Deploy a web node and an application node as separate containers on the same host, using task linking to create a relationship between the pair. Add an Application Load Balancer with session stickiness in front of all web node containers. B. Use a Network Load Balancer at the web tier, and an Application Load Balancer at the application tier. Enable session stickiness on the Application Load Balancer, but take advantage of the native WebSockets protocols available to the Network Load Balancer. C. Use an Application Load Balancer at both the web and application tiers, setting session stickiness at the target group level for both tiers. D. Use an Application Load Balancer at the web tier and a Classic Load Balancer at the application tier.
