Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2 You may reduce a cracker's chances of success by (choose all that apply):
A. hiring competent people responsible for security to scan and update your systems.
B. using multiple firewalls and IDS.
C. keeping your systems up to date using a security scanner.
D. None of the choices.
E. using multiple firewalls.
Answer: A, C
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Explanation: Only a small fraction of computer program code is mathematically proven, or even goes through comprehensive information technology audits or inexpensive but extremely valuable computer security audits, so it is quite possible for a determined cracker to read, copy, alter or destroy data in well secured computers, albeit at the cost of great time and resources. You may reduce a cracker's chances by keeping your systems up to date, using a security scanner or/and hiring competent people responsible for security.

NEW QUESTION: 4 Which IP SLA operation requires Cisco endpoints?
A. ICMP Echo
B. ICMP Path Echo
C. UDP Jitter for VoIP
D. UDP Jitter
Answer: C
Explanation: UDP Jitter Operation With the addition of real-time traffic (ie: VoIP), the focus shifts not just in the reliability of the network, but also on the delays involved in transmitting the data. Real-time traffic is delay sensitive. For Voice data, packet loss is manageable to some extent, but frequent losses impair communication between endpoints. The UDP jitter operation is the most popular operation because the user can obtain packet loss, jitter and latency from one operation. This also includes unidirectional measurements as well. The Jitter operation is designed to measure the delay, delay variance and packet loss in IP networks by generating active UDP traffic. It sends N packets, each of size S, from source router to a target router (which requires Cisco IOS IP SLAs responder enabled) each T milliseconds apart. All these parameters are user configurable.
