NEW QUESTION: 3 You are building a regression model to estimate the number of calls during an event. You need to determine whether the feature values achieve the conditions to build a Poisson regression model. Which two conditions must the feature set contain? Each correct answer presents part of the solution. NOTE: Each correct selection is worth one point. A. The label data must be a positive value B. The label data can be positive or negative, C. The label data must be non-discrete. D. The label data must be a negative value. E. The data must be whole numbers. Answer: A, E Explanation: Poisson regression is intended for use in regression models that are used to predict numeric values, typically counts. Therefore, you should use this module to create your regression model only if the values you are trying to predict fit the following conditions: The response variable has a Poisson distribution. Counts cannot be negative. The method will fail outright if you attempt to use it with negative labels. A Poisson distribution is a discrete distribution; therefore, it is not meaningful to use this method with non-whole numbers. NEW QUESTION: 4 As a Senior HR Professional, you must be aware of contracts, laws, and commitments made to employees. A manager has promised Ted that if he resigns from his position, the manager will hire Ted in a new, more lucrative position. Ted agrees and resigns, but the manager doesn't follow through with his promise. Ted is now out of work. This scenario is an example of which of the following?
A. Constructive discharge
B. Respondeat superior
C. Express contract
D. Promissory estoppel
Answer: D
Explanation: Explanation/Reference: Answer option D is correct. When an employer makes a conditional promise of employment but doesn't follow through on the promise, it's considered promissory estoppel. Answer option B is incorrect. The Latin phrase respondeat superior means "let the master answer." It means the employer can be held liable for the actions of the employee. Answer option A is incorrect. A constructive discharge is a workplace environment that's so hostile the employee feels obligated to quit. Answer option C is incorrect. An express contract is a verbal contract, such as, "You'll have a job as long as we're in business" that may negate the employment at will relationship.
