NEW QUESTION: 1 Which two next-generation encryption algorithms does Cisco recommend? (Choose two.)A. SHA-384B. DESC. AESD. DH-1024E. 3DESF. MD5Answer: A,C*Explanation: The following table shows the relative security level provided by the recommended and NGE algorithms. The security level is the relative strength of an algorithm. An algorithm with a security level of x bits is stronger than one of y bits if  $x > y$ . If an algorithm has a security level of x bits, the relative effort it would take to "beat" the algorithm is of the same magnitude of breaking a secure x-bit symmetric key algorithm (without reduction or other attacks). The 128-bit security level is for sensitive information and the 192-bit level is for information of higher importance. Reference:

NEW QUESTION: 4 NO: 3 DRAG DROP You need to deploy AKS1 to meet the platform protection requirements. Which four actions should you perform in sequence? To answer, move the appropriate actions from the list of actions to the answer area and arrange them in the correct order. NOTE: More than one order of answer choices is correct. You will receive credit for any of the correct orders you select.Answer: Explanation: Explanation Scenario: Azure AD users must be able to authenticate to AKS1 by using their Azure AD credentials. Litewire plans to deploy AKS1, which is a managed AKS (Azure Kubernetes Services) cluster. Step 1: Create a server application To provide Azure AD authentication for an AKS cluster, two Azure AD applications are created. The first application is a server component that provides user authentication. Step 2: Create a client application The second application is a client component that's used when you're prompted by the CLI for authentication. This client application uses the server application for the actual authentication of the credentials provided by the client. Step 3: Deploy an AKS cluster. Use the az group create command to create a resource group for the AKS cluster. Use the az aks create command to deploy the AKS cluster. Step 4: Create an RBAC binding. Before you use an Azure Active Directory account with an AKS cluster, you must create role-binding or cluster role-binding. Roles define the permissions to grant, and bindings apply them to desired users. These assignments can be applied to a given namespace, or across the entire cluster.
