NEW QUESTION: 1 During the IPv6 auto configuration, what does the device append to the 64-bit prefix that it receives from the router to create its IPv6 address?
A. its locally configured IPv4 address
B. a pseudorandom generated number
C. the DHCP-supplied device ID
D. its MAC address
Answer: D
Explanation: Explanation The automatic configuration is a great feature of IPv6. Imagine you have to manually configure an IPv6 address with 128-bit long, what a pain! With this feature, it is no longer necessary to configure each host manually. But notice that host only autonomously configures its own Link-local address (the IP address used on a LAN). The Link-local address can be created automatically using a link-local prefix of FE80::/10 and a 64-bit interface identifier (based on 48-bit MAC address). For example, if your MAC address is 00:12:34:56:78:9a, your 64-bit interface identifier is 0012:34FF:FE56:789a (16-bit FFFE is inserted in the middle). And notice that the notation has been changed because IPv6 addresses require 16-bit pieces to be separated by ":". Then, according to the RFC 3513 we need to invert the Universal/Local bit ("U/L" bit) in the 6th position of the first octet (start counting from 0). The "u" bit is set to 1 to indicate Universal, and it is set to zero (0) to indicate local scope. In this case we set this bit to 1 because the MAC address is universally unique. Thus the result is: 0212:34FF:FE56:789a. Finally, add the link-local prefix FE80 to create the full IPv6 address: FE80:0:0:0:0212:34FF:FE56:789a (or FE80::212:34FF:FE56:789a, in short form). Note: The reason for inverting the "U/L" bit is to allow ignoring it for short values in the manual configuration case. For example, you can manually assign the short address fc80::1 instead of the long fc80:0:0:0:0200::1.

always be the secondary DHCP server in the WLAN.B. The primary DHCP server configured in WLC1 is not enabled.C. The DHCP server address for SW1 needs to be removed from the DHCP server configuration in WLC1.D. The primary DHCP server address in WLC1 is incorrect.Answer: B
