D. A router is commonly considered a DCE device.

The network's DCE device (includes CSU/DSU) provides clocking to the DTE-connected interface (the router's serial interface). A modem modulates outgoing digital signals from a computer or other digital device to analog signals for a conventional copper twisted pair telephone line and demodulates the incoming analog signal and converts it to a digital signal for the digital device. A CSU/DSU is used between two digital lines - For more explanation of answer D, in telephony the local loop (also referred to as a subscriber line) is the physical link or circuit that connects from the demarcation point of the customer premises to the edge of the carrier or telecommunications service provider's network. Therefore, a modem terminates an analog local loop is correct.
