NEW QUESTION: 1When the Cisco IOS router or gateway receives a call setup request, what is the PID value of the default dial peer?A. PID:4B. PID:0C. PID:6D. PID:1E. PID:2F. ID:3G. PID:7H. PID:5*Answer: B

NEW QUESTION: 2Your network contains an Active Directory domain named contoso.com. The domain contains a file server named Server1 that runs Windows Server 2012 R2. Server1 has a share named Share1. When users without permission to Share1 attempt to access the share, they receive the Access Denied message as shown in the exhibit. (Click the Exhibit button.) You deploy a new file server named Server2 that runs Windows Server 2012 R2. You need to configure Server2 to display the same custom Access Denied message as Server1. What should you install on Server2?A. The File Server Resource Manager role serviceB. The Remote Assistance featureC. The Enhanced Storage featureD. The Storage Services server role*Answer: A*Explanation:Explanation/Reference:Explanation:Access-Denied Assistance is a new role service of the File Server role in Windows Server 2012. We need to install the prerequisites for Access-Denied Assistance. Because Access-Denied Assistance relies up on e-mail notifications, we also need to configure each relevant file server with a Simple Mail Transfer Protocol (SMTP) server address. Let's do that quickly with Windows PowerShell: Set-FSRMSetting -SMTPServer mailserver.nuggetlab.com -AdminEmailAddress -FromEmailAddress You can enable Access-Denied Assistance either on a per-server basis or centrally via Group Policy. To my mind, the latter approach is infinitely preferable from an administration standpoint. Create a new GPO and make sure to target the GPO at your file servers' Active Directory computer accounts as well as those of your AD client computers. In the Group Policy Object Editor, we are looking for the following path to configure Access-Denied Assistance: Computer Configuration Policies Administrative Templates System Access-Denied Assistance The Customize message for Access Denied errors policy, shown in the screenshot below, enables us to create the actual message box shown to users when they access a shared file to which their user account has no access. What's cool about this policy is that we can "personalize" the e-mail notifications to give us administrators (and, optionally, file owners) the details they need to resolve the permissions issue quickly and easily. For instance, we can insert pre-defined macros to swap in the full path to the target file, the administrator e-mail address, and so forth. See this example: Whoops! It looks like you're having trouble accessing [Original File Path]. Please click Request Assistance to send [Admin Email] a help request e-mail message. Thanks! You should find that your users prefer these human-readable, informative error messages to the cryptic, non-descript error dialogs they are accustomed to dealing with. The Enable access-denied assistance on client for all file types policy should be enabled to force client computers to participate in Access-Denied Assistance. Again, you must make sure to target your GPO scope accordingly to "hit" your domain workstations as well as your Windows Server 2012 file servers. Testing the configuration This should come as no surprise to you, but Access-Denied Assistance works only with Windows Server 2012 and Windows 8 computers. More specifically, you must enable the Desktop Experience feature on your servers to see Access-Denied Assistance messages on server computers. When a Windows 8 client computer attempts to open a file to which the user has no access, the custom Access-Denied Assistance message should appear: If the user clicks Request Assistance in the Network Access dialog box, they see a secondary message: At the end of this process, the administrator(s) will receive an e-mail message that contains the key information they need in order to resolve the access problem: The user's Active Directory identity The full path to the problematic file A user-generated explanation of the problem So that's it, friends! Access-Denied Assistance presents Windows systems administrators with an easy-to-manage method for more efficiently resolving user access problems on shared file system resources. Of course, the key caveat is that your file servers must run Windows Server 2012 and your client devices must run Windows 8, but other than that, this is a great technology that should save admins extra work and end-users extra headaches. NEW QUESTION: 3 Which of the following wireless standards is backwards compatible with 802.11g? A. 802.11b B. 802.11a C. 802.11n D. 802.11q Answer: A

NEW QUESTION: 4 When using a metal file, always remember to bear down on the forward stroke only. On the return stroke, lift the file clear of the surface to avoid dulling the instrument's teeth. Only when working on very soft metals is it advisable to drag the file's teeth slightly on the return stroke. This helps clear out metal pieces from between the teeth. It is best to bear down just hard enough to keep the file cutting at all times. Too little pressure uses only the tips of the teeth; too much pressure can chip the teeth. Move the file in straight lines across the surface. Use a vice to grip the work so that your hands are free to hold the file. Protect your hands by equipping the file with a handle. Buy a wooden handle and install it by inserting the pointed end of the file into the handle hole. When using a file—A. remove the handle B. always bear down on the return stroke C. move it in a circle D. wear protective gloves E. press down on the forward stroke Answer: E
