To enable network access authentication, perform the following steps:
Step 1 Using the aaa-server command, identify your AAA servers. If you have already identified your AAA servers, continue to the next step.
Step 2 Using the access-list command, create an access list that identifies the source addresses and destination addresses of traffic you want to authenticate. The permit ACEs mark matching traffic for authentication, while deny entries exclude matching traffic from authentication. Be sure to include the destination ports for either HTTP, HTTPS, Telnet, or FTP in the access list because the user must authenticate with one of these services before other services are allowed through the ASA.
Step 3 To configure authentication, enter the following command:
hostname(config)# aaa authentication match acl_name interface_name server_group
Where acl_name is the name of the access list you created; interface_name is the name of the interface as specified with the nameif command, and server_group is the AAA server group you created.
The following commands authenticate Telnet traffic from the outside interface to a particular server (209.165.201.5):
hostname(config)# aaa-server AuthInbound protocol tacacs+hostname(config-aaa-server-group)# exit hostname(config)# aaa-server AuthInbound (inside) host 10.1.1.1hostname(config-aaa-server-host)# key TACPlusUauthKey hostname(config-aaa-server-host)# exit hostname(config)# access-list TELNET_AUTH extended permit tcp any host 209.165.201.5 eq telnet
