NEW QUESTION: 2 You have created a Kubernetes deployment, called Deployment-A, with 3 replicas on your cluster. Another deployment, called Deployment-B, needs access to Deployment-A. You cannot expose Deployment-A outside of the cluster. What should you do?
A. Create a Service of type ClusterIP for Deployment A. Have Deployment B use the Service IP address.
B. Create a Service of type NodePort for Deployment A and an Ingress Resource for that Service. Have Deployment B use the Ingress IP address.
C. Create a Service of type LoadBalancer for Deployment A and an Ingress Resource for that Service. Have Deployment B use the Ingress IP address.
D. Create a Service of type LoadBalancer for Deployment A. Have Deployment B use the Service IP address.
Answer: A
Explanation: A is not correct because this exposes Deployment A over the public internet. B is not correct because LoadBalancer will expose the service publicly. C is not correct because this exposes the service externally using a cloud provider's load balancer, and Ingress can work only with nodeport, not LoadBalancer. D is correct because this exposes the service on a cluster-internal IP address. Choosing this method makes the service reachable only from within the cluster.
