NEW QUESTION: 3Tokenization requires two distinct _____.A. Encryption keys
B. Authentication factorsC. DatabasesD. PersonnelAnswer: CExplanation:In order to implement tokenization, there will need to be two databases: the database containing the raw, original data, and the token database containing tokens that map to original data. Having two-factor authentication is nice, but certainly not required. Encryption keys are not necessary for tokenization. Two- person integrity does not have anything to do with tokenization.

NEW QUESTION: 4Your company's user-feedback portal comprises a standard LAMP stack replicated across two zones. It is deployed in the us-central1 region and uses autoscaled managed instance groups on all layers, except the database. Currently, only a small group of select customers have access to the portal. The portal meets a 99,99% availability SLA under these conditions. However next quarter, your company will be making the portal available to all users, including unauthenticated users. You need to develop a resiliency testing strategy to ensure the system maintains the SLA once they introduce additional user load.What should you do?A. Capture existing users input, and replay captured user load until autoscale is triggered on all layers. At the same time, terminate all resources in one of the zonesB. Expose the new system to a larger group of users, and increase group size each day until autoscale logic is triggered on all layers. At the same time, terminate random resources on both zonesC. Capture existing users input, and replay captured user load until resource utilization crosses 80%.Also, derive estimated number of users based on existing user's usage of the app, and deploy enough resources to handle 200% of expected loadD. Create synthetic random user input, replay synthetic load until autoscale logic is triggered on at least one layer, and introduce "chaos" to the system by terminating random resources on both zonesAnswer: C
