NEW QUESTION: 1 A. Option B B. Option C C. Option A D. Option E E. Option D F. Option F
Answer: A, C Explanation: B: GPT disks can grow to a very large size. The maximum partition (and disk) size is a function of the operating system version. Windows XP and the original release of Windows Server 2003 have a limit of 2TB per physical disk, including all partitions. For Windows Server 2003 SP1, Windows XP x64 edition, and later versions, the maximum raw partition of 18 exabytes can be supported. A: A spanned volume is a dynamic volume consisting of disk space on more than one physical disk. If a simple volume is not a system volume or boot volume, you can extend it across additional disks to create a spanned volume, or you can create a spanned volume in unallocated space on a dynamic disk. You can make a spanned volume of GPT disks.

NEW QUESTION: 2 Which two statements about call routing on Cisco Unity Connection are true? (Choose two.) A. You cannot delete the predefined rules. B. Call routing is done using route lists. C. Opening Greeting is always the first entry. D. Call routing is done using tables. E. Attempt Sign-In and Attempt Forward are both predefined direct routing rules. Answer: A, D

NEW QUESTION: 3 Which three statements are true about the operation of a full-duplex Ethernet network? (Choose three.) A. In a full-duplex environment, the host network card must check for the availability of the network media before transmitting. B. A dedicated switch port is required for each full-duplex node. C. The host network card and the switch port must be capable of operating in full-duplex mode. D. There are no collisions in full-duplex mode. E. Ethernet hub ports are preconfigured for full-duplex mode. Answer: B, C, D Explanation: Half-duplex Ethernet is defined in the original 802.3 Ethernet and Cisco says you only use one wire pair with a digital signal running in both directions on the wire. It also uses the CSMA/CD protocol to help prevent collisions and to permit retransmitting if a collision does occur. If a hub is attached to a switch, it must operate in half-duplex mode because the end stations must be able to detect collisions. Half-duplex Ethernet-typically 10BaseT-is only about 30 to 40 percent efficient as Cisco sees it, because a large 10BaseT network will usually only give you 3- to 4Mbps-at most. Full-duplex Ethernet uses two pairs of wires, instead of one wire pair like half duplex. Also, full duplex uses a point-to-point connection between the transmitter of the transmitting device and the receiver of the receiving device, which means that with full-duplex data transfer, you get a faster data transfer compared to half duplex. And because the transmitted data is sent on a different set of wires than the received data, no collisions occur. The reason you don't need to worry about collisions is because now Full-duplex Ethernet is like a freeway with multiple lanes instead of the single-lane road provided by half duplex. Full-duplex Ethernet is supposed to offer 100 percent efficiency in both directions; this means you can get 20Mbps with a 10Mbps Ethernet running full duplex, or 200Mbps for FastEthernet.
