NEW QUESTION: 1Here my friend, about whose madness I now saw, or fancied that I saw, certain indications of method,removed the peg which marked the spot where the beetle fell, to a spot about three inches to the westward of its former position. Taking, now, the tape measure from the nearest point of the trunk to the peg, as before, and continuing the extension in a straight line to the distance of fifty feet, a spot was indicated, removed, by several yards, from the point at which we had been digging. Around the new position a circle, somewhat larger than in the former instance, was now described, and we again set to work with the spades. I was dreadfully weary, but, scarcely understanding what had occasioned the change in my thoughts, I felt no longer any great aversion from the labor imposed. I had become most unaccountably interested--nay, even excited. Perhaps there was something, amid all the extravagant demeanor of Legrand--some air of forethought, or of deliberation, which impressed me. I dug eagerly, and now and then caught myself actually looking, with something that very much resembled expectation, for the fancied treasure, the vision of which had demented my unfortunate companion. At a period when such vagaries of thought most fully possessed me, and when we had been at work perhaps an hour and a half, we were again interrupted by the violent howlings of the dog. His uneasiness, in the first instance, had been, evidently, but the result of playfulness or caprice, but he now assumed a bitter and serious tone. Upon Jupiter's again attempting to muzzle him, he made furious resistance, and, leaping into the hole, tore up the mould frantically with his claws. In a few seconds he had uncovered a mass of human bones, forming two complete skeletons, intermingled with several buttons of metal, and what appeared to be the dust of decayed woolen. One or two strokes of a spade upturned the blade of a large Spanish knife, and, as we dug farther, three or four loose pieces of gold and silver coin came to light. At sight of these the joy of Jupiter could scarcely be restrained, but the countenance of his master wore an air of extreme disappointment he urged us, however, to continue our exertions, and the words were hardly uttered when I stumbled and fell forward, having caught the toe of my boot in a large ring of iron that lay half buried in the loose earth. We now worked in earnest, and never did I pass ten minutes of more intense excitement. During this interval we had fairly unearthed an oblong chest of wood, which, from its perfect preservation and wonderful hardness, had plainly been subjected to some mineralizing process--perhaps that of the Bi-chloride of Mercury. This box was three feet and a half long, three feet broad, and two and a half feet deep. It was firmly secured by bands of wrought iron, riveted, and forming a kind of open trelliswork over the whole. On each side of the chest, near the top, were three rings of iron--six in all--by means of which a firm hold could be obtained by six persons. Our utmost united endeavors served only to disturb the coffin very slightly in its bed. We at once saw the impossibility of removing so great a weight. Luckily, the sole fastenings of the lid consisted of two sliding bolts. These we drew back trembling and panting with anxiety. In an instant, a treasure of incalculable value lay gleaming before us. As the rays of the lanterns fell within the pit, there flashed upwards a glow and a glare, from a confused heap of gold and of jewels, that absolutely dazzled our eyes. I shall not pretend to describe the feelings with which I gazed. Amazement was, of course, predominant. Legrand appeared exhausted with excitement, and spoke very few words. Jupiter's countenance wore, for some minutes, as deadly a pallor as it is possible, in nature of things, for any negro's visage to assume. He seemed stupefied and thunderstricken. Presently he fell upon his knees in the pit, and, burying his naked arms up to the elbows in gold, let them there remain, as if enjoying the luxury of a bath. It became necessary, at last, that I should arouse both master and valet to the expediency of removing the treasure. It was growing late, and it behooved us to make exertion, that we might get every thing housed before daylight. It was difficult to say what should be done, and much time was spent in deliberation--so confused were the ideas of all. We, finally, lightened the box by removing two thirds of its contents, when we were enabled, with some trouble, to raise it from the hole. The articles taken out were deposited among the brambles, and the dog left to guard them, with strict orders from Jupiter neither, upon any pretence, to stir from the spot, nor to open his mouth until our return. At what point in the excerpt was there a marked mood change?

A. between paragraphs 5 and 6 B. between paragraphs 1 and 2 C. between paragraphs 3 and 4 D. between paragraphs 4 and 5 E. between paragraphs 2 and 3

Answer: B

Explanation: Explanation/Reference: The mood clearly changes between paragraphs 1 and 2. The narrator clearly explains he was tired, but "scarcely understanding what had occasioned the change in my thoughts."

NEW QUESTION: 2 You are designing the Exchange organization for Margie's Travel. You need to ensure that all of the emails sent to the Internet by the Margie's Travel users have return email addresses in the required format. What should you include in the design?

Case Study Title (Case Study): Contoso Ltd Company Overview

Contoso, Ltd. is a wholesale travel agency.

Physical Locations The company has offices in New York and Seattle. Each office has a call center. All IT staff and help desk staff are located in the New York office.

Existing Environment Contoso has a single domain named contoso.com. An Active Directory site exists for each office. The sites connect to each other by using a high-speed WAN link. The WAN link has an average utilization rate of 90 percent during business hours. The domain contains three domain controllers. The domain controllers are configured as shown in the following table. The network has an Exchange Server 2010 Service Pack 1 (SP1) organization that contains four servers. The servers are configured as shown in the following table. Each mailbox database is 400 GB. All of the servers have the following hardware configurations: -64 GB of RAM -One dual quad-core Intel Xeon processor -Two 1-gigabit per second Ethernet network adapters -One RAID 10 disk array that has 12 300-GB, 15,000-RPM SAS disks for data -one RAID 1 disk array that has two 73-GB, 10,000-RPM SAS disks for program files -One RAID 1 disk array that has two 73-GB, 10,000-RPM

SAS disks for the operating system

Requirements Business Goals Contoso has the following general requirements that must be considered for all technology deployments:

- Minimize costs whenever possible.
- Minimize administrative effort whenever possible.
- Minimize traffic on the WAN link between the offices.

Planned Changes Contoso acquires a company named Margie's Travel. Margie's Travel has 3,000 employees. Margie's Travel has the following email infrastructure:

- A call center, where 200 employees work
- UNIX-based email hosts that users access by using POP3 and SMTP
- Three departments that use the SMTP domains of margiestravel.com, east.margiestravel.com, and blueyonderairlines.com. Users are assigned only one email address that uses the SMTP domain of their department

You plan to deploy a new Exchange Server 2010 SP1 organization to Margie's Travel. The new email infrastructure must meet the following implementation requirements:

- All employees must have access to their mailbox if a single server fails.
- Call center employees must use windows Internet Explorer 8 to access their mailbox.
- The administration of the Margie's Travel Exchange organization must be performed by a dedicated team.
- Call center employees must be prevented from accessing the calendar or journal features of Outlook Web App.
- All employees who do not work in the call center must have access to all of the Outlook web App features.
- All email messages sent to recipients outside of Margie's Travel must have a return address in the [\[email#160;protected\]](#) format.

The new email infrastructure for Margie's Travel must meet the following security requirements:

- Contoso administrators must be prevented from viewing or modifying the settings of the mailboxes of Margie's Travel users.
- All inbound and outbound Internet email to and from the Margie's Travel domains must be routed through the Hub Transport servers of Contoso.
- All email messages that contain confidential customer information must be encrypted automatically while in transit and the recipients of the messages must be prevented from forwarding them to other users.

Compliance Requirements Contoso must meet the following compliance requirements:

- Each email message sent by an attorney from the Contoso legal department must be approved by the manager of the legal department.
- Attorneys must be able to classify email messages as "attorney-client privileged".
- All messages classified as "attorney-client privileged" must contain a legal disclaimer automatically.

User Requirements All users who have a portable computer use Microsoft Outlook 2010 when they work online and offline. When the users work offline, they must be able to read existing email messages and create new email messages. Users who have a large mailbox must minimize the amount of hard disk space used by the mailbox on their portable computer.

A. an Edge Transport server and address rewrite entries
B. a Hub Transport server and Hub Transport rules
C. a Hub Transport server and address rewrite entries
D. an Edge Transport server and Edge Transport rules

Answer: A Explanation: the question states What should you include in the design Hub Transport cannot be used for address rewrites. see below and transport rules on either the Hub Transport or the Edge Transport will not work You use address rewriting to present a consistent appearance to external recipients of messages from your Exchange 2010 organization. Address rewriting can be valuable to organizations that use third-party vendors to provide e-mail support and services. Customers and partners expect e-mail messages to come from the organization, not a third-party vendor. Similarly, after a merger or acquisition, an organization might want all e-mail messages to appear to come from the single new organization. The address rewriting feature frees organizations to structure their businesses by business requirements instead of by technical requirements or limitations. You can also use address rewriting to enable appropriate routing of inbound messages from outside your Exchange 2010 organization to internal recipients. Address rewriting enables replies to messages that were rewritten to be correctly routed to the original sender of the rewritten message. You configure Address Rewriting agents on the Receive connector and Send connector on a computer that has the Edge Transport server role installed.
